fever among the Sixty-fifth New York Regiment at Camp Aiger in the division hospital and in addition there are a large number of men sick in the regimental hospital and their quarters at camp

The regiment is scheduled to leave for Buffalo tomorrow, but there is no assurance that it will do so.

A review of the treatment of these men during the past week illustrates the method of the War Department. On Sat-urday last they received orders to be in readings to move to Camp Meade, at Middetown, Pa. On Monday morning Governor Black succeeded in having the destination of the regiment changed to Buffalo, with the understanding that they were to leave on that day. Later the orders were revoked, and it was said at headquarters that the regiment leaves Wed-

On Wednesday the War Department concluded that the cierical work connected with the granting of furioughs would have to be performed here, and that meant an additional delay of several days.

When yesterday the War Department learned of the alarming increase of sickness, an order was issued directing that the regiment turn all material over to the depot quartermaster, and proceed in the afternoon to Middletown, Pa. The order reached the regiment at 1 p. m. Thursday. The various companies were then scattered about their drills, and one detachment had undertaken a march quite a distance from the camp. Mounted orderlies were despatched to

A PENSION RULING.

Many Official Documents Will Be Open to the Public.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Webster Davis this morning made an important ruling regarding the examination of certain pension documents. His action lays before the public in the future all papers relating to claims for ensions or bounty land reports from the War Department, certificates of examin-ing surgeons and reports of special ex-aminers, except documents relating to criminal cases where the ends of justice might be defeated. Up to the present time the Pension De-partment has held that all reports of special examiners and kindred papers were to be kept in secret, and the result was that hundreds of appeals were ta-ken by dissatisfied pension claimants who did not know why their claims were rejected. In lessening appeal cases alone the or-der will save the Government thousands of dollars annually.

CAPT. DUNCAN'S STATEMENT. Positively Declares His Innocence

of Grave Desceration. Capt. Louis C. Duncan, of Topeka, Kan., who is now in jail at Fairfax, Va., he is entirely innocent of the offense. Tried before a court marital composed of sixteen officers of high rank, including two ex-Confederate soldiers, he was acquitted of the charge of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, the general head under which the crime was calendered, but he has been turned over the control of the state of the same of the assembly that evening at Plasters' Hall.

In this instance, as when the general was calendered, but he has been turned over to the civil authoriteis by Gen. Graham, and unless he can furnish ball in the sum of $1,100 he will have to awalt trial on the charge of grave descration at Fairfax Court House until the third Monday in September. The penalty for the offense in Virginia is from five to ten years at hard labor.

In this instance, as the executive board revoked the charter of the assembly some time ago, it is claimed by some of the local members of the thority. It is claimed that the board exceeded its authority. It is claimed that charges should have been preferred against Lawson and that he should have been given an opportunity to defend himself.

The only cause for which a member can be expelled without trial, it is said,

I took no part in these desecrations; that I was guilty of neglect of duty only because I did not arrest privates who were digging in the grave. My part in the de-piorable affair, as testified to in the courtmartial by myself and borne out by other evidence, was as follows:

"On the morning of August 6, while the Second Division was camped near Bull Run, I went out sketching, as is my cus-tom when I have leisure. While strolling about the battlefield I came upon a body of men digging in a little hole, about 8 inches deep and 2 feet across.

"I had already seen dozens of men all over the field searching for relics and not a few digging, so I thought nothing of it. I stayed some ten minutes, watching the digging and talking to another officer who was present. Then I learned that a gravestone was thereabouts, and found it lying out some 15 feet from where the men were digging.

"I learned what was on it, but as I had been informed that all the bodies of sol-diers thereabouts had been removed to Arlington and Manassas, did not think much of the matter. However, I saw a hospital corps man there, and ordered him back to camp the was the only man there over whom I supposed I had authority). The other men there were not net under my command-not even of my regiment. As I am a surgeon, I have no

After ordering the men away I left the spot at once and have never seen it since. That is the sum and substance of my guilt. And there is no evidence to prove that I was there again."

Referring to charges that the conduct alleged against him was because of feeling toward the Confederate dead, Capt, Duncan declares that he has had the utmost respect for the men of Stuart, Jackson and Lee, and that the memory of their heroism is a heritage of all. Neither does he think that the men who took part in the affair did it out of sectional feeling, but rather out of recklessness engendered by camp life in a volunteer army added to a foolish desire for "rel-les."

It is a fact which admits of no argument that a school teacher's task is a severe one indeed, and it requires a perfect system and steady nerves to be able to conduct a class-room in a proper manner. That Ripans Tabules help to keep the system in perfect order and strengthen the nerves is testified to by a prominent school teacher in Philadelphia, who says: "I have been teaching the Ninth Grade in the George M. Wharton School for the past eight years, and it is a hard matter to comprehend what a task I have every season when I get in a new set of pupils from the lower sections. You see it requires great patience and assiduity to discipline and educate boys, and the task is a very arduous one. Especially is this the case during the examinations when the work is very exacting and the drain on the system extensive. From leaning over my books and marking up papers for five or six hours at a time I get a headache and my entire system gets shattered, but a Ripans Tabule always straightens me up, and next morning I am ready for the task over again, feeling as fresh as ever from the effects of the magic Tabule taken on the previous night. It is certainly a wonderful remedy for nervousness and invigorating a wasted system, and in this I voice the sentiments of all the teachers in my section, every one of whom has used them with equally beneficial results.
